What is BeeLikeCoders?

About Us

BeeLikeCoders is an annual 24-hour hackathon and California's largest hackathon for community college students, by community college students.

We host over 100 students from across California ho come together in teams to develop projects in 24 hours , completely from scratch .

BeeLikeCoders aims to give opportuntiies to students from traditionally underrepresented communities.

Why Sponsor?

RECRUIT
Community colleges are full of overlooked students who often aren't able to get the same opportunities as more traditional students. Hackathons bring out the best and brightest of these students, and you have the option to interact with these students while they work.

PROMOTE
BeeLikeCoders aims to provide all of our sponsors plenty of opportunities to promote their companies, including opening speeches, tables at the venue, distributing company merchandise, having company judges at the event, being advertised on the website, and more.

EXPERIMENT
Have an interesting API or technology you'd love to experiment with, see the potential for, or need user feedback on? Go for a test run at our hackathon and see how new and experienced coders interact with your technology.
